World's Largest Vineyard Will Harvest Sept. 1

Harvest of the Cucamonga grape crop from the largest vineyard in the world, Garrett & company's at Cucamonga, will begin about September 1, L. A. Weller, manager, reported today.

Quality and quantity of the grapes are good in comparison with past years, he reports, but the labor situation is critical.

He said Mexican nationals and German prisoners of war will be used in this year's harvest but additional pickers will have to be enlisted. There will also be a need for several dozen men in the Cucamonga plant, he said.

All of the grapes harvested in Garrett & company's vineyard, six miles long and 2½ miles wide, will be retained by the company for its wine making and, in addition, purchase will be made of other grapes grown at Cucamonga and elsewhere in Southern California, Mr. Weller said.

Growers' price ceilings have not yet been announced by the office of price administration, he said, although the OPA last week announced that retail ceilings on American grape wine will be cut 15 to 25 cents per fifth next April 1.

Last April Garrett & company purchased the Italian Vineyard company property at Cucamonga and Guasti, which had previously been the largest in the world. It included the town of Guasti and a winery with a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons.

Garrett & company's vineyard now contains 6,000 acres in Cucamonga and Guasti, about 800 acres in Mendocino county and other vineyards in the east totaling 10,000 acres in all.

The studies will be preceded by a twilight community sing.

All persons in the community are invited to share in these inspirational meetings.

Consultant's Report—

Possible Improvements Outlined by Planning Expert

Upland as it is today and Upland as it might be in the future through realization of a sound city planning program are shown in words and diagrams in a report prepared by Charles W. Eliot, counsellor for the city planning commission.

Copies of his "Program Report" on plans for Upland are being studied by the commissioners.

"The healthy development of the city after the war requires early consideration and agreement on various policies or programs," he said in opening his report. "It seems to be generally agreed that the growth of the city should be guided to maintain the special character of the community and to secure the most efficient use of the investments hitherto made in community facilities."

AREAS OUTLINED

Mr. Eliot discusses the present "structure" of the community and lists the "industrial area," along the Santa Fe tracks, the central business district, the "wash" northeast of the city, and the residential areas.

"Through planning in advance it should be possible to encourage the building up of the areas already served with water, sewer, street, pavements, schools and other facilities in contrast to encouraging extended development with consequent necessary further investments by the city," the specialist in city planning continued.

"Structure of the community is necessarily based not only upon the unifying factors which have been discussed, but also upon the devisive factors which set off one unit from another. These devisive factors are principal highways like Euclid avenue and the Foothill freeway, industrial and business zones, and railroad tracks. The pattern of these dividing elements is already pretty well fixed in Upland with the possible exception of the Pacific Electric tracks. A major effort should be made to secure the abandonment of the P. E. track through the center of town and to substitute use of a double track Santa Fe line with a connection at the east side of the city back to the P. E. right-of-way."

AUTO PARKING

Reference is made by Mr. Eliot to the recent proposed changes in the zones. Considerable attention is given to the auto parking problem.

"To maintain the concentrated development of business, as everyone will agree is highly desirable, the central business district must be provided with adequate parking

Upland Nursery May Be Opened

Upland board of school trustees will be asked to sponsor a nursery school for children of working mothers, Mrs. Douglas Black, secretary of the Los Olivos and Parkside projects, reported today.

The trustees will meet tonight at the Upland Elementary school board room and request is expected to be made of them at the session.

She reports working mothers of 42 children have asked that the nursery school be started in Upland. They are wives of men in the armed forces, women employed at the Kaiser steel mill, and mothers who must work to support children.

Mrs. Black said a nursery school could be operated at the Parkside community building, which has a kitchen, an enclosed playground and play equipment.

If the school trustees approve the nursery school program, they would administer it, employ the teachers and receive and pay out funds. The school's initial capital would be supplied by the federal government and mothers would pay $4.50 per child per six-day week.

Closing of the nursery at Lincoln school August 31 will work a hardship on working mothers, Mrs. Black said, although the extension care nursery for children of kindergarten age and over will continue in operation at the Central school in Ontario.

If a nursery is authorized by the Upland school authorities, she said, it is possible it could be placed in operation by September 1.

Weather Getting Cooler—But Not Very Much

It has been getting a little bit cooler in Upland the past few days—but not much.

From a week-end high mark of 92 degrees Friday, the afternoon temperatures dropped to 90 Saturday and Sunday and to 88 yesterday and today. But the midnight and 7 a.m. readings have remained at 72 degrees consistently.

Recordings made at the Santa Fe railway depot were:

12 AUTO ACCIDENTS HERE LAST MONTH

Twelve automobile accidents were investigated by Upland police officers in July, according to a report filed with the city council.

School Budget Hearing Tonight

Public hearing on the 1945-46 school budget of $137,175 will be conducted tonight in the board room of the Upland Elementary school, starting at 7 o'clock, Harold W. Cook, superintendent of schools, announced.

The board of trustees proposes to increase the tax rate from 86 cents to 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the maximum rate which may be charged without an election, to finance two additional classrooms and lavatory to the Upland Elementary school building on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Increased personnel salaries are also included within the budgeted total.

Of the $137,175 needed for the next school year expenditures, only $48,568 will be collected from tax levies. The school district will receive $67,114 from the state in payments based on average daily attendance, $2880 from Chaffey for ninth grade classroom rental and the district has an unincumbered credit balance of $18-613.

Budgeted expenditures are administration, $4500; teacher salaries, $69,625; other instruction expense, $4950; school plant operation, $19,000; school plant maintenance, $5600; auxiliary services, $6600; fixed charges, $1850; capital outlay, $18,000; civic center activities, $50; undistributed reserve, $1000; and general reserve, $6000.

Members of the school board are Howard N. Mason, president; Allan S. Barr, clerk, and Mrs. Ralph T. Mitchell.

WATER CONSUMPTION 8,500,000 CUBIC FEET

Uplanders consumed 8,552,800 cubic feet of water in July, according to the city water department record.

Council Meeting On Civic Center

Upland city councilmen will meet Thursday with members of the city planning commission and with Charles Eliot, planning consultant, to discuss proposed sites of a future civic center.

It is expected the meeting will be conducted following the public hearing on extension of Washington boulevard, starting in the council chamber at 7:30 o'clock.

Three civic center sites have been recommended to the planning commission by Mr. Eliot. One is between D street and the Pacific Electric railway right-of-way, opening it up to Euclid avenue. The second is the city-owned property extending from Third to Fifth avenues between East Ninth and C streets. The third is the O. E. Hirschler property at the southeast corner of Foothill boulevard and Euclid avenue.

The planning commission has recommended to the city the purchase of the 10-acre tract on Euclid avenue at Foothill boulevard as the most economical.

Boy Scout Court Of Honor Here Tomorrow Night

Old Baldy Council Boy Scouts will meet in the Upland junior high school auditorium at a court of honor tomorrow evening starting at 8 o'clock, marking the first time a court has ever assembled here, Earl E. Hawthorne, commissioner, announced today.

Upwards of 360 Boy Scouts are expected to attend, representing four Upland troops, 10 Ontario troops, two at Cucamonga, and one each at Alta Loma and Guasti.

Simultaneously Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas, Chino and Pomona troops will meet at the Fremont junior high school at Pomona.

Lt. Harold Salisbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Salisbury, 279 N. Second avenue, who was twice wounded in combat, will address the Upland meeting.

Boy Scout achievement and war service awards will be made by Arthur Peterson of Ontario.

Commissioners sponsoring the court of honor are Mr. Hawthorne and Harry Plum, Upland; John Swoap, Cucamonga, and Lawrence Hoppe, George Imhoff and A. I. Armitage, Ontario.

Ernest Payne, Chaffey high school teacher and director of the Boy Scout summer camp at Tulakes, will be master of ceremonies. Rev. John A. Luther will say invocation.

The program will open with advance of colors by Eagle Scouts followed by a pledge of allegiance.

Each troop will display its flag and committees will march on the stage at the head of their troops. Committee chairmen will present committee members and scoutmasters.

The Boy Scouts will assemble in front of the Upland junior high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, the announcement said.

POLICEMEN HANDLE MANY ANIMAL MATTERS

Besides catching criminals and preventing crime, the Upland police department handle many other matters. Like animals.

Last month eight animal complaints were made to the police officers, four animals were lost and six were found and 10 were "disposed of".

Does Crime Pay in Summertime? City Fines in Big Drop

Perhaps crime does not pay in summer time. Perhaps robbing and burglarizing is just too much work in hot weather.

In any event "business" at the city police court has taken a "dive" and the city's income from fines has dropped 200 per cent since May.

Judge Mildred R. Puckett in her monthly report reveals that fines collected in July amounted to only $651. Of that, $496 was for traffic violations and only $55 for other offenses.

June collections were even lower, $569. But, in May, the judge assessed fines totaling $1688 and the monthly average the 1944-45 fiscal year was in excess of $1000.

The largest fine assessed anyone in July was $250 against John Copas for driving while intoxicated. Judge Puckett suspended $100 of the amount and he paid $150.

Cecil Cary and Francis Boughey were each fined $100 for driving while intoxicated. The former paid his fine while $50 of the latter's was suspended and he paid $50.

Eight Arrested for Major Crimes in July

Eight persons were arrested for major crimes in July, the Upland police department reported.

Two persons were arrested for petty thefts and one each for simple assault, auto theft, malicious mischief, indecent exposure, purse snatching and stealing a bicycle.

Arrests for other offenses were intoxication, six; vagrancy, five; simple assault, one; disturbing the peace, one, and miscellaneous, one.

Ninety-nine traffic citations were issued, of which 48 were for failure to observe stop signs, 25 for speeding, three for intoxicated driving and others for miscellaneous offenses.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILE RECOVERED YESTERDAY

Dan Blair, 838 East Eighth street, reported to the Upland police department yesterday that his automobile was stolen from its parking place on Second avenue south of Ninth street. The car was recovered with windshield and rear glass slightly shattered.

Census Starts Today; Questions Can Be Answered in Six Minutes

"What are you taking a census for now? This isn't the census year?"

That question will not be asked of the enumerators in Upland, Miss Mary E. Ivans commented diplomatically, but has been asked repeatedly in other communities where federal census counts have been made this year.

If it should be asked, the answer is that the Upland city government receives payments from the state gasoline tax fund, distributed to California cities on the basis of the latest federal census enumeration, and the Upland city council authorized the federal census in the expectation that the city will receive $2000 more from the state than would be received if the census were not taken.

"I'm too busy to answer questions now. Can't you come back later?"

That's an annoying statement that has been put to enumerators but probably will not be said to enumerators in Upland, according to Miss Ivans, who is supervising the census here.

When the statement has been made elsewhere, she commented, the enumerators have explained that answering the questions takes little time, not more than five or six minutes on the average.

All the enumerators will want to know will be the street name and number, the names of the persons residing in the house, their relationship to the head of the household, sex, color, race and age at last birthday.

Such information can be given in the time persons have used to explain why they are too busy to answer the questions now, she commented.

If Uplanders will invite the enumerators into their homes, ask them to sit down and give the information requested, it will be appreciated, she said.

Henson W. Faris, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Hamilton, Mrs. Howard Pierce, Horace G. Smith, Miss Lena F. Stalter and Mrs. Mary D. Younge are six of the enumerators who will take the Upland census and a seventh will be employed, the supervisor said.

Each will be assigned a district and the entire count is scheduled to be completed in 10 days. The preliminary census figure will be announced unofficially when the count is completed and the official announcement will be made from Washington, D. C., at a later date.

Enumerators will meet at the city hall today to receive instructions and will begin their work this afternoon. Each enumerator may work during the hours most convenient to him or her, but, generally, enumerators will call between 9 to 11 a.m. and from 3 to 7 p.m.

Miss Ivans, who is a supervisor employed by the bureau of the census of the United States department of commerce, states it is important that people tell their correct ages, because accurate information is necessary for statistical reasons.

The enumerators are sworn to secrecy and none of the answers given by individuals are repeated or published and everything is confidential.

The enumerators will count everyone making his or her home in Upland, but will not count transients. House guests, for example, will not be enumerated, but persons who will be counted include Ontario army air base officers and their families residing in Upland, persons residing in Los Olivos and Parkside projects and Mexican nationals here to work in agriculture. Uplanders in the armed forces and stationed at camps in the United States or abroad will not be counted.

If a family is on vacation or is not at home when the enumerator calls several times, neighbors, friends, relatives or employers will be asked to assist in supplying information.

People in hospitals should be reported as living at home, but people permanently confined to institutions are not considered as residents of Upland.

The census will be confined within the limits of the city of Upland.

Washington Blvd. Extension To Be Topic Thursday

Upland planning commission will hold a public meeting in the council chambers of the city hall Thursday evening to discuss future subdivision of the area between Third and Campus avenues from Ninth street and Arrow highway and extension of Washington boulevard to C and D streets.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Personal invitations have been mailed all property owners in the area to attend the sesson, it was announced.

Located in the center of Upland's most populous residential section and close to the downtown shopping district, the tract represents the city's favorable development site, Charles W. Eliot, planning commission consultant, declared.

Proper subdivision and the extension of Washington boulevard may make necessary the removal of some of the houses now in the tract, one of the planning commissioners remarked, but added that property values as a whole should be considerably enhanced.

The plan proposed by Mr. Eliot for Washington boulevard would extend it westwardly from Campus avenue to Sixth avenue, with the south driveway continuing westward to connect with C street and the north driveway connecting with D street ,both of which terminate now at Third avenue.

He commented property owners will be afforded greater opportunity to profit by joint planned action than would be possible by individuals acting alone.

Chairman Frank H. Davis, Richard G. Manley and Mr. Eliot will conduct the assembly but all commission members are expected to be present.

Permit Granted for Oil Storage Tank

James A. Kryder, 108 West Baseline road, Claremont, was granted a permit by City Building Inspector Richard W. Derby to erect an above ground fuel oil storage tank on his property on North Benson avenue north of Thirteenth street.

Placement of the tank had been referred to the city council and approval given because it is on property 18 feet from a curb.

Building permits were issued today to H. W. Lenhart, 846 East D street, Ontario, to repair the dwellings at 227 and 241 Seventh street, and to B. E. Taylor, 237 East Center street, Corona, to alter the dwelling at 1370 West Foothill boulevard.

City Receives $900 From Parkside for Garbage Collections

General receipts for the city of Upland in July amounted to $2746.75 and water department revenues were $7498.36, according to a report filed with the city council.

Major income items under general receipts were garbage collections, $1286, including $900 from Parkside project; fruit revenue from Upland Lemon Growers association, $251; rent, $112, permits, $80; retirement payments, $465; weed abatement, $270, and a sewer connection, $20.

Coronel To Start Survey Saturday

Paul Coronel, Chaffey high school teacher and president of the Mexican-American Movement in southwest United States, reported today he will leave Upland about Saturday on a three-week trip to Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to survey Mexican and Mexican-American communities.

He will visit Phoenix, Tucson, El Paso, San Antonio, Albuquerque and Santa Fe and will interview both Mexican-American citizens and officials of Mexican organizations.

He will make the survey to determine what they are doing to help Mexicans and Mexican-help Mexicans and Mexican-Americans in their adjustments to their communities.

The survey will form the basis for a thesis Mr. Coronel will write. He has been attending Pomona college this summer on a scholarship.

$85 Lost on Ninth Street, Found by Mexican Girls

At 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Mrs. C. M. Gosnell, 363 South Second avenue, reported to the Upland police department that she had lost a billfold on $85 in bills.

At 6 p. m., three Mexican girls found the purse and returned it to Mrs. Gosnell intact, she informed the police office.

Mrs. Francisco Wins $162

In the food fund for Wednesday and Thursday are $85. This sum will be offered at 6 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. J. L. Short, 716 North Second avenue, failed to qualify for the $25 offered last Thursday.

Eligible to issue sales slips in connection with the plan are the following food stores: Lee's market, Safeway, Arrow market, Olson's market, Walker's market, Clint's produce and Snowden's market.

For every week since the start of the dividend day program here more than four years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Francisco, 434 Ninth avenue, have been prepared for a call from the "man with the money".

Well, he came last night with $162.

Calmly, like she knew she would receive it some time, Mrs. Francisco accepted the big jack-pot. As she opened the front door of their attractive residence, she saw an envelope bulging with currency.

"Is it mine?" she asked, and then added: "I have the sales slips."

Harnish Dry Goods Co. and McFadden's store sales slips were exchanged for the $162.

"I cannot think of a week since the start of the dividend day that we have not had the sales slips," explained Mrs. Francisco. "Perhaps there were some weeks, but I have been making a point of buying in Upland every Saturday."

The Francisco address was selected in a drawing conducted for The Upland News by Shirley Waggoner. She selected page 10 and line 64 in The News' complete residential directory.

Mr. Francisco is superintendent of the city's street department.

More Ballots Expected In Chamber Voting

Additional ballots are expected to be received this week at the Upland chamber of commerce office.

Six new directors are to be chosen in the annual balloting. Twelve nominees have been selected and ballots have been mailed to all the chamber members. The present board of directors will meet Thursday morning in the Engle & Co. coffee shop for the August meeting.

Vet Schooling Aid Expected

Chaffey school board trustees, at their meeting last Friday evening, signed contracts with the Veterans' Aid administration and the state department of education to facilitate arrangements for the education of returning war veterans.

The board approved combined high school and college budgets totaling $1,147,285 for the 1945-46 school year.

Of the whole, only $250,221 for the high school and $74,210 for the college will be raised by taxes, with the college rate remaining at 18 cents per $100 of assessed valuation and the high school rate expected to be increased only a few cents over last year's 55 cents.

Melvin Shimmin was named to serve as acting director of the adult education department until Dr. R. E. Berry returns from Europe.

Use of the college athletic field was granted the Fourth Air Force fliers at a rental of $2000.

Miss Rita Freeland was employed to teach mathematics, Miss Flo Curran, English; and Miss Edna A. West, commerce. Robert Johnston, Mrs. Owen Johnson and Maurice Johnston were granted release from their contracts.

Summer teaching pay was authorized for George Beardwood, Mrs. Helen S. Brown, L. J. Horsch, Roy T. Vick, Mrs. Celesta Walters, Miss Ruth Weber and Miss Ina R. Wynne.

Acquisition of Cal-Aero for Chaffey Sought

Warren H. Wass, member of the Chaffey board of school trustees and Upland resident, will communicate with the county board of supervisors and with the federal defense plants corporation relative to the acquisition of Cal-Aero for use in the establishment of a "Chaffey College of Aeronautics", he reported today.

Mr. Wass and J. E. Bailie of Fontana were appointed last Friday by H. S. Bailey of Ontario, president of the board of education, to investigate possibilities of acquiring the site for Chaffey after Gardiner W. Spring, president of Chaffey college, had recommended the aeronautics college be established.

Mr. Wass said the land is owned by the county and the buildings are owned by the defense plants corporation and that he is contacting both.

Mr. Spring told the trustees last Friday night that it is possible for Chaffey to become the center of aeronautical training in the west, attracting the finest young men and women to the area, and said with such a plant as Cal-Aero the success of the project would be assured.

He mentioned that Chaffey in a period of two years, trained 500 men to fly at Silver Lake, 150 miles from Ontario and added the same thing could be done with the Chaffey College of Aeronautics located at Cal-Aero.

Mr. Spring remarked that the college owns a hangar valued at $70,477 on the Ontario airport but said commercial use of the field will limit the educational program.

Dormitories at Cal-Aero could be used for aviation students, he said, and declared the college would be self-sustaining through tuition paid by them.

The college curriculum, he stated, would include aviation maintenance engineering, aviation operation engineering and flight. It would be conducted under military discipline, making it eligible to participate in any program of military training which may be established in post-war years.

Chaffey has been notified informally, he said, that the federal government will favor the development of a strong department of aeronautics and will assist in providing engines, planes, tools and equipment at practically no cost.

Without an airport and without dormitories, Mr. Spring declared, the college can do little in an aeronautics program.

Mexican-Americans Plan Dinners to Finance Scholarships

To accumulate funds for scholarships for Mexican-American young people and to encourage youth activities, the local council of the Mexican-American Movement will sponsor dinners in Upland, Ontario and Cucamonga in late August and will cooperate with the Inter-American association in a fiesta in October, it was agreed at a meeting last Friday in the Girl Scout house on Third avenue.

Paul Coronel, reporting on the meeting last Friday, stated the local council hopes to raise between $200 and $300 for scholarship use in each of the three council communities, Upland, Cucamonga and Ontario. Joe Valade of Upland is the council president.

Three clubs have now been organized for Mexican-American boys, he reported. They are Los Caballeros in Upland, with 20 members; Progresistas in Cucamonga, with 15 members, and El Vecino in Ontario, with 25 to 30 members.

Toastmasters Meeting At Ontario Tomorrow

Ontario Toastmasters club will be host to representatives of six affiliated clubs at a dinner tomorrow evening at the Casa Blanca hotel, honoring Max H. England of LaVerne, lieutenant-governor of Toastmasters International, and Dr. Richard E. Eby of Pomona, district secretary.

Riverside, Corona, Covina and LaVerne clubs will furnish speakers, and Pasadena and Anaheim will send representatives.

Ralph C. Smedley of Santa Ana, founder and honorary president of the international club, will participate in the program.

More Buildings Needed Here—Action Sought from WPB

More business buildings must be erected here if the need for merchandise and services is to be filled. Likewise, a very severe housing shortage exists. Upland is "full up"—every business building and every residence is occupied—and the demand for accommodations and services is increasing rather than decreasing.

An oft-repeated question is: "When will the new theater building go up?" The War Production Board has the answer. If investigators for the WPB could really know of the demand and need for more buildings, priorities would surely be granted.

No relief is in sight until there is more building. Immediate construction of the new theater building would be welcomed by everyone. In Upland are about 8,000 people and in the outlying communities are at least 4,000 people. In this trade area of about 12,000 people is only one theater with a seating capacity of about 400.

Priorities have recently been granted here for construction of a doctor's office and for an addition to a grocery store. The WPB is to be commended for issuance of priorities for these buildings. Another vital improvement here within the power of the WPB is the new theater building.

The Future Civic Center Site—

Recommendation of the city planning commission that the city buy a "civic center site," on Foothill boulevard between Euclid and Second avenues is received with more or less amazement by people in the community. Far-sightedness is usually to be desired and perhaps the commission is to be commended for its long-range view.

The general reaction, however, is that the current proposal may be a little too far-sighted.

More space will be needed for the full development of a civic center—a new library, a new fire station and eventually an addition to the city hall. Where is the best location for the expansive civic center of the future?

Charles W. Eliot, the city planning consultant, has recommended use of the area adjacent to the city hall. Listed second as a possible site, is the city owned property facing on Third avenue south of the Pacific Electric right-of-way. Mr. Eliot's third recommendation was the property on Foothill boulevard.

Mr. Eliot has made a study of the city as it is and as it might be in the future. A summary of this study is reported elsewhere in today's paper and a close study is recommended.

Senator Hiram Johnson

Hiram Johnson will be missed in the state politics and in the national capital. He was governor of the state 35 years ago and from Sacramento he went to Washington, to remain ever since as the militant isolationist.

Due to his advancing years and his growing unpopularity due to his isolationist stand, aspirants for his office were increasing.

With the death of the senior senator—the man who could have been president—the political field is really wide open.

Governor Earl Warren can render a real service by appointing as Senator Johnson's successor the popular and capable lieutenant governor, Frederic Houser.

Home Modernization Restrictions Eased

Frank K. Nichols, manager of Upland branch, Bank of America, has been notified that restrictions have been modified on home modernizing and repair, permitting expenditure up to about five times the former maximum amounts.

Limits governing priorities and financing have been raised from $200 to $1000 worth of materials, articles and services without war production board approval.

Limit on property improvements on farms, hotels or apartment buildings, formerly $1000, is now $5000, he said.

Where home repair financing is handled by the bank through an FHA title loan, the repayment term has been extended to a maximum of 18 months on amounts up to $1500, with no down payment required, he said.

I strongly suspect that the (British) government was not ready for peace in Europe.—Lord Davidson, president, British Engineering Industries Association.

Consultant Lists Possibilities in City's Growth

facilities and refurbished," the official continues.

"It has already been suggested by W. W. Mather and Dougles Black that parking areas should be provided in the rear of the stores along Second avenue between Ninth street and Pacific Electric right-of-way. If this scheme is carried through, screen plantings should be developed along First and Third avenues to protect the values in the residential properties across those streets. The accomplishment of this plan involves action by the planning commission on zoning changes and under the new parking district law just enacted by the state legislature.

SHADE ON SECOND

"The central business district might also be made much more attractive if there were more shade on Second avenue. Shade could be provided by petition of either of two methods or a combination of both—first by planting and care of street trees in a park strip provided by reducing the paving area. This reduction would be practical if parking lots are provided in the rear of the stores and Second avenue parking changed to parallel parking instead of the present diagonal or head parking. Second, by an arcade or new fronts on the existing stores encroaching on sidewalk space. This possibility is most attractive but involves many legal questions which would have to be explored with care.

"In the new outlying business sections provision should be made in the original development for parking facilities, setbacks and other safeguards to the success of the business operations to be carried on there.

SUBDIVISION

"To maintain reasonably compact development, it is high time that a general scheme of subdivision for property close to or within the built up area should be agreed upon. The outstanding example of this need is in the area between Third and Sixth avenues, Ninth street and Arrow highway."

(Mr. Eliot has suggested extention of Washington boulevard from Campus to Third avenues.)

CIVIC CENTER

Mr. Eliot briefly discussed the proposed development of a civic center.

"Three possible sites for a civic center have been studied," he said and listed them as follows:

"Southwest of the present city hall on D street.

"East of Third avenue on "C" street on city owned property.

"In the 10-acre tract between Euclid and Second avenues south of Foothill boulevard.

POLITICAL PARADE

BY CLEM WHITAKER

Of special political significance was Governor Warren's action in siding with the CIO and AFL against the State's major farm organizations on the question of writing the federal definition of "agricultural labor" into California's Unemployment Insurance Act.

Farm groups which sponsored Sutton bill to clarify and broaden the definition of farm labor, so that California agriculture would not be compelled to pay unemployment insurance taxes not paid by farmers in other States, were bitterly disappointed when Governor Warren announced his veto of the measure, and political repercussions are not unlikely.

On the other hand, there is a possibility that Warren may now have the militant support of the CIO Political Action Committee, as well as that of the State Federation of Labor and the Railroad Brotherhoods, in his re-election campaign.

The $64 question is whether the Governor can walk the political tight rope with sufficient dexterity to retain his business and farm support and bring the GOP and the CIO under the same tent.

Still another political development which promises to enliven next year's election is the report that the CIO and AFL are planning to initiate a ballot measure calling for reapportionment of the State Senate on a strict population basis, which would give the cities (with their big organized labor voting strength) complete control of both houses of the legislature.

Under the present so-called "federal plan" of legislative representation, the Assembly is apportioned on a population basis and is urban-controlled, while the Senate, chosen on a combination population and territorial basis, is rural-controlled. If a measure is initiated to upset that balance of power, it will undoubtedly result in one of the most spectacular campaigns in the State's political history, with rural California battling bitterly to retain its voice in legislative affairs and with labor fighting just as bitterly to capture control of the legislative machinery.

A native of Kansas, Mr. Chaney came to this district from Benton, Kansas. He was a rock crusher operator by occupation.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Cleo Scruggs of Huntington Park; two sons, Clifford Chaney, serving in the army, and Clarence Chaney of Beaumont; two sisters, Mrs. Laura Bodecker, Wichita, Kansas, and Mrs. C. Deep Sea Fishing Profitable for Olin Collier in I.O.O.F. Party

Thirty-nine Upland Odd Fellows and their guests went deep sea fishing Sunday and returned to Upland with 59 barracuda, bass and halibut to stock their kitchens and conserve good red points.

Olin Collier won the jack-pot for the largest catch, an eight-pound bass. He tied with Bill Kronen and J. Whawell Johnson, a guest, for the largest number, each hooking seven.

George Sarina reeled in eight, but five were mackerel and were not counted. Oliver D. D. Ewing got six, Dave Mooney five, Niles Katt four, Dick Allen and Eddie MacLean three each, David Jones, Cleve Stanley, Watts Cate and Al Bolsta got two each, and A. J. Robinson, John McConkey, Elmer France, Harold Rowe, Chester Mayberry and Harold Anderson brought in one each.

Walter Daniel claimed the consolation prize. "I got no fish, no bites, not even a nibble, and I lost my hat. But I had a wonderful time and enjoyed the trip," he declared.

Others in the party were Sanford Otterness, Robert Collier, Verl Haynes, William Goalby, Lawrence Ware, George Culver, Lawrence Missildine, Chas. Rheinecker, Maurice Junod, Meyer Katz, a guest James Kavanaugh, Pete Ganard, W. Kronen, Cecil Chambers, R. Thudium, Bill Johnson, Bill Euler and Clint Mayberry.

The group left Upland at 4:45 a.m. Sunday and went to Kemper's Beacon landing at Newport Beach, where the "Recapture" was chartered. After considerable delay getting ice and live bait, the skipper headed toward Long Beach and halfway there put to sea. The lines were dropped opposite Huntington Beach, about five miles out.

Captain of the boat was Bud Jacklin, the owner-skipper. The busiest person aboard was the boat owner's son, Bob Jacklin, "the little skipper", who took charge of the bait trough and was helpful to practically everybody.

A few of the boys got seasick, some brought home sunburns but for the most part deep sea fishing was a memorable experience.

He's an Irrigation Expert!

REDDY KILOWATT is just as good at operating an electric irrigation pump as he is at powering your vacuum cleaner or radio. In fact, Reddy is so dependable, efficient, and economical that nine out of ten farmers in Southern and Central California prefer Reddy Kilowatt purchased electricity to any other power for pumping, feed grinding, and dozens of other difficult chores. Reddy has played an important part in helping the farmers of this area produce more food at low cost in spite of the manpower shortage.

When new electrical farm equipment is available, there will be many new uses for Reddy Kilowatt service. He'll be ready, as always, for every task he is called upon to perform.

Approved for Publication by U. S. Navy Dept.

HERE is the first picture released of the new Vought Corsair — the F4U-4—which has joined the fleet to smash at Japanese airpower in the enemy's homeland. In the 425-mile-an-hour class, and carrying six .50 caliber machine guns, eight five-inch rockets and a 2,000-pound bomb load, the new Corsair is one of the most fearsome air weapons yet hurled at the Japs. The Pratt & Whitney R-2800-C engine of 2,100 horsepower, plus substantially more by the use of water injection, and a four-bladed Hamilton Standard Hydromatic propeller, give the new Corsair increased speed, climb and ceiling over its famous predecessor, the F4U-1.

During the past ten years California winter oranges averaged 85 cents per box above Florida oranges in ten leading markets. Better grading, packaging, marketing and Sunkist advertising were factors in establishing this records.
